Shipping men in this city predict that the war will go down in history as the fiercest ever fought by maritime interests. Reduction of rates from North Atlantic ports will affect rates from Mediterranean ports. The Lloyd and liamburg lines are closely interested with the African, Asiatic and South American trade and both have declared the battle will be waged wherever their vessels go.

Hate war rumors have been in circulation for some time, and that the pressure of the London Mittee may decide to recommend.

With the end of the tariff revision fight in view, members of the Senate are devoting themselves to a preliminary study of the currency question, and preparing for the consideration of the bill now under fire in the House caucus. Many suggestions for changes in the administration plan have been effered by members of the Senate throughout the week, and in a series of committee conferences to be continued during the coming week, these suggestions will be further considered.

Few of the changes advocated by the bankers' conference in Chicago will receive favorable consideration from the Democratic forces in the Senate. Chairman Owen is unalterably opposed to the idea of changing the Federal board conds next year.
